GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 107.

War Departe ent, Adjutant General's Office, 1
Washington August 15, 1862.

I. Officers of the regular army will, as a general rule, receive leaves of absence to accept the rank of Colonel in volunteer regiments, but not lower grades. Non-commissioned officers and privates will be discharged on receiving commissions in volunteer regiments.

will be discharged on receiving commissions in voluntieer regiments.

If, The eath of allegiance will not be administered to any person against his own will; it must in all cases be a voluntary act on his part. Nor will any compulsory perole of honor be received. But oaths taken, and paroles given, to avoid arrest, detention, imprisonment, or expulsion, are volun-tary or free acts, and cannot be regarded as com-pulsory. All persons guilty of violating such onthe pulsory. All persons guilty of violating such onths or paroles will be punished according to the laws and usages of war. III. The laws of the United States and the general laws of war, authorize, in certain cases, the seizure and conversion of private property for the subsistence transportation, and other uses of the army; but this must be distinguished from pillage; and the taking of property for public purposes is very different from its conversion to private uses. All preperty lawfully taken from the enemy, or from the inhabitants of an enemy's country, instantly becomes public property, and must be used and accounted for as such. The 52d Article of War authorizes the penalty of death for pillage or plundering, and other articles authorize severe punishments for any officer or soldier who shall sell, embezzle, infeapply, or waste military stores, or who shall permit the waste or misapplication of any such public property. The penalty is the same whether the offence be committed in our own or in an one my's ferritory.

TATTLING.

Oh: could there in this world be found, Some little spot of happy ground, Where village pleasures might go round, Without the village tattling; How doubly blest that place would be, Where all might dwell at liberty, Free from the bitter misery Of gossips' endless prattling.

If such a spot were really known, Dame Peace might claim it as her own ; And in it she might fix her throne Forever and forever There like a queen might reign and live,

While every one would soon forgive The little slights they might receive, And be offended never. 'Tis mischief makers that remove Far from our hearts the warmth of love,

And lead us all to disapprove What gives another pleasure, They seem to take one's part, They've heard our cares, unkindly then They soon retail them all again,

Mixed with their poisonous measure. And then they've such a conning way Of telling their ill-meant tales; they say "Don't mention what I say, I pray;

The following account of an expedition sent out from the gunboat Sagamore, from Key West, about a month ago, we find in the correspondence of the Philadelphia Bulletin:

"The expedition first visited Fort Capron, a fort built during the Indian war) but finding there nothing of import, proceeded down the river. We had gone about seven miles, when projecting behind the trees a must was we've got 'em this time,' and the boys did 'give way,' I assure you. On nearing the hiding place, discovered the mast belonging to a sloop, and at this moment a boat was leaving her for the shore, but one shot from the howit-zer changed her course, and she returned to volunteers in the Mexican war and the wars the sloop.
